LEO FUMO Submitted by Anita Buchholz

On April 5th, Kolping at 88th Street was sad to learn of the death of a long-term resident, Leo Fumo, at the age of 91. Leo lived with us for over 30 years, but in absence of any family, we thought it would only be fitting to hold a Mass in his memory. Since Kolping-on-Concourse has a daily Mass, Tony, the Manager, was kind enough to arrange the Mass, followed by dinner.

We were so happy that Rosemarie Lambot was able to join us, along with her friend Maryanne, as well as Ernst and Wilma Endrich, who all live in the Bronx. Kenny Rose, Geovanny Ramirez and Wolfgang Hahn were nice enough to come up from Manhattan to attend also. Gail Gleason, who is replacing Anita Buchholz as bookkeeper, also attended. Leo would have been pleased to know that so many of his friends from Kolping were praying for him.

Standing: MaryAnne, Ernst Endrich, Wolfgang Hahn, Gail Gleason, Anita Buchholz, Wilma Endrich, Kenny Rose and Geovanny Ramirez. Seated: Rosemarie Lambot.

BOY SCOUT SPONSORSHIP

Submitted by Ann Horan

New York Kolping has joined with St. Christopher/St. Patrick Parish in Buchanan/Verplank to be the sponsor and advocate for Boy Scout 36 in Montrose. This sponsorship harkens back years ago to our Kolping and Troop 636, of which there are still members today! Kolping has reached out to other troops offering our campgrounds and trails. It is obvious that Troop 36 will be a good fit for us and our commitment to be good community members.

Last week some of our members attended the installation of Troop 36 new Eagle Scout, Andrew Quist. It was a great testimony to the hard work, time, and dedication these boys and their families put into scouting. We congratulate Andrew and his family for achieving this goal.

LIFE LESSONS FROM MY DAD

by Johanna Fuchs

Submitted by Katherine & Walter Weigand

You may have thought I didn't see,
Or that I hadn't heard,
Life lessons that you taught to me,
But I got every word.

Perhaps you thought I missed it all,
And that we'd grow apart,
But Dad, I picked up everything,
It's written on my heart.

Without you, Dad, I wouldn't be
The person I am today;
You built a strong foundation
No one can take away.

I've grown up with your values,
And I'm very glad I did,
So here's to you, dear father,
From your forever grateful kid.

Stories of Interest

A Stitch in Time submitted by Martin A. Kelly

Death struck a bizarre blow to a charitable lady at a fundraising event on March 30th hosted by her Alma Mater, Sacred Heart University. A superlative person and daughter of a martyr of the 9/11 disaster, Caitlin Nelson casually entered the "pancake eating contest". The object was to see who could eat the most cakes in a limited time.

Caitlin Nelson and students holding a vigil after her death on Sunday following an eating contest.

Unfortunately Caitlin's mouthful became lodged against her windpipe. The cessation of oxygen to the lungs leads to asphyxia which is fatal within seconds.

Caitlin Nelson had several food allergies, but it was later determined by doctors that they were not a contributing factor to her death. Nelson had several friends at the competition who were aware of her allergies and she had all necessary emergency information listed in her cellphone for emergency responders, who initially thought she was suffering from anaphylactic shock.

One of the nursing students at the competition brought her slowly to the ground and then began CPR, basic life support. There was a lieutenant there in two minutes. The lieutenant, Robert Kalamaras, 42, happened to be working as a rotating officer assigned to campus duty during a 12-hour tour that night.

Kalamaras – along with Sgt. Mike Paris, 34, and Officer Paul Medvegy, 46 – tried the Heimlich maneuver on the unconscious and unresponsive young woman. She was rushed to St. Vincent's Medical Center and was later transferred to the Columbia University Medical Center – where she died.

Henry Judah Heimlich (Feb. 1920 – Dec. 2016)

Dr. Heimlich was an American thoracic surgeon and medical researcher. He is widely credited as the inventor of the Heimlich maneuver, a technique of abdominal thrusts for stopping choking. Using the two hands clasped together and pressing against the diaphragm acts as a bellows. The pressure from the compressed air acts to dislodge the blockage and opening the passage.

Heimlich was born in Wilmington, Delaware, the son of Mary (Epstein) and Philip Heimlich. His paternal grandparents were Hungarian Jewish immigrants, and his maternal grandparents were Russian Jews. At the age of 23, he received his M.D. from the Weill Cornell Medical College in 1943. Heimlich claimed his namesake treatment may have saved the lives of more than 50,000 people.

Gardening at Kolping on Hudson submitted by Peggy Dougall

Well it's Springtime and once again we were doing God's work at Kolping. Gloria McSweeney and Peggy Dougall completed some serious weeding around the circular wall in the pool area and along the roadway to the parking lot. It's been too chilly to plant annuals. The perennials (deer resistant) are doing fine. We just have to wait for June and the months to come to see their blooms. Thanks Richie for taking the pictures.

Also glad to see the ladies have taken on some of the planting as well.

Solar Panel Meeting at KOH submitted by Katrina Dengler, President

We will be having a special General Meeting on Sunday June 25 at 1:30 pm at Fr. Assmuth Hall at Kolping on Hudson to discuss the Solar Panel project. It is very important that members attend in order to obtain the information which was requested at the General Meeting in March and in order to participate fully in matters that come up for discussion.

We have list of Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) regarding the Solar Project on the next page. We hope it answers your questions. If you still have questions, please email them to solar@kolpingny.org (preferably before June 10) so we may answer them at the meeting. Whether you are for the project or have concerns, it is important for all members to come to the meeting to have their voice counted. All members in good standing will be entitled to vote. (All dues must be paid by 6/15 and members must have past their probationary period of 3 months.)

Below are some Pros and Cons for your consideration.

Pros

FINANCIAL SAVINGS:

- No or minimal electricity costs every year
- After 10.5 -13 years, the system should pay for itself.
- Yearly costs are:
 - $250 maintenance
 - $20 monthly electric company connection charge
- Assuming only a 2% increase in electricity cost, Kolping could save $180,000 in 25 years, after paying for the panels.

ENVIRONMENTAL BENEFITS:

- Once the solar panels are manufactured, they will not produce the pollution of nuclear waste and increased ozone levels from burning natural gas, which is what Westchester ConEd is currently using to create electricity.
- The Archdiocese of New York is encouraging parishes to use alternate forms of renewable energy.
- Stopping the project at this point. Since Kolping has already signed a contract with SolarMaximum, Kolping could be subject to monetary damages.

Cons

- We could lose parking spaces on the upper parking lot. However, this could be remediated by cutting the brush in the perimeter.
- The panels will be a large addition to the landscape. Some may consider them unsightly. We will landscape the area to reduce the visual impact.
- Solar Maximum, LLC is a young company in business for 4 years. In light of the transient nature of contractors and solar incentives it is a risk that the company may not be around in 10 years or 20 years. (Please note the warranty on the equipment is from the manufacturer, not the contractor).
- This is a high priced, long term project that will take at least a decade to recoup the investment.
- The manufacturing of solar panels uses caustic and toxic chemicals which can pollute the environment.

The solar panels will be located in the back end of the upper lot, close to where the dumpster is. Here is a rough projected satellite shot of the proposed site.

KOH Solar Panel "FAQ" sheet

Q: Why could solar panels be a good idea for Kolping on Hudson?

A: • By investing in solar panels now, Kolping can generate their own electricity for 25 years or more.
• Our potential savings would be $180,000 or more in 25 years, even after paying for the panels.
• Cardinal Dolan has asked all Catholic-affiliated properties in the NY Archdiocese to use renewable energy like solar.
• With the solar panels, we expect to pay zero for electricity, with a minimal account fee of $20 per month.

Q: Why do the solar project now?

A: The US government and NY State (NYSERTA) are subsidizing the cost now. If we do not do this now, Kolping could pay more of the total cost for the solar panels.

Q: How much will they cost?

A: The solar panel system costs $155,972. We expect to receive a NYSERTA incentive of $25,137, leaving the cost to Kolping of $130,835. There are incidental costs of a survey (~$1500) and landscaping.

Q: Where will the solar panels be located?

A: In the back end of the upper lot, close to where the dumpster is.

Q: Why are they not being mounted on a roof? What type of structural support will be used?

A: The buildings and the supporting structures at KOH are very old, and the weight of the panels would put a lot of stress on these old buildings. In order to minimize future maintenance costs to the buildings and roofs, a ground mount could be the best option. The mounting would be with steel piping into the ground, with no concrete pad. All would be per building code and approval.

Q: How big will the solar panels be?

A: Approximately 20 x 100 feet. There will be a fence around the structure for protection of the panels. We plan on planting shrubbery around the fence, for beautification.

Q: What happens if something goes wrong with them? How much will a maintenance contract cost?

A: There is almost no maintenance of the panels. In case of snow being on the panels, it is recommended that it not be removed in order not to damage the panels. The cost of maintenance is $250 per year.

Q: What type of warranty will there be if something breaks or goes wrong?

A: There is a 25 year manufactures warranty on power output, which guarantees the production will decrease by no more than 0.7% per year, of the labeled power output, as well as 25 years on the inverters and optimizers.

Q: What happens if a tree falls on the panels and breaks them?

A: Just like KOH's other assets, they will be covered by insurance.

Q: How much does the insurance cost?

A: The insurance should cost less than $700 a year, possibly cheaper.

Q: This is a big project. Were three estimates obtained?

A: Yes. Solar Maximum LLC, Franzoso Energy Solutions and ThisDay Energy, a division of ThisDay Electronics. Solar Maximum was the lowest bidder. All companies are registered in New York State.

Q: Will trees have to be cut down? What if trees block the panels?

A: No healthy trees are anticipated to be cut down. The engineers have placed "sun eyes" in the location several times a year and the trees will not block production from the sun.

Q: What is the expected electrical output? What type of equipment is it?

A: The 35.91 kW system is expected to produce approximately 45,773 kWh in the first year of production. Of course, as the sun strength varies from day to day, the exact output will vary. The equipment will be:

- Panels: 315NIC-G4 – 114 Modules (6 strings of 13/3 string of 12)
- Racking: ground mounted 25 degree tilt
- Inverters: 3 Solar Edge SE10000A-US
- Optimizers: 114 P300 SolarEdge Power Optimizers
- Monitoring System

Q: I heard there was newer advanced technology coming out. How about waiting for those advancements?

A: Advances are being made all the time, as soon as the latest and greatest advancement comes out, another will come right behind it. The latest technology has not been as well tested as the current technology. We do not want to entrust Society money in technology that has not been thoroughly tested. Also, if we wait, we can lose the NYSERTA incentive.

Q: How will the panel installation affect the land grant?

A: Kolping New York has chosen the following option:
To designate/create a three acre "new building envelope" within Parcel D in which new construction may take place with limitations on total size and space the new construction takes up. The Conservation Easement must be amended to show the location of the new envelope and new improvements and Kolping must bear the costs of surveying the envelope and new improvements and of recording the amended easement. A consideration: If in the future, after the solar is installed, Kolping wants to build in that area, the solar panels could be put on top of the new building, thus recouping the square footage (but at additional installation and construction costs). In addition, the solar system can be viewed as an enhancement to the value of the property, similar to a pool or other additions.

Q: What if I have more questions, who can I contact?

A: Bob Hemsing would be happy to take your questions at solar@kolpingny.org
