Milestones & Passages

Everyone could use the power of prayer now and again. If you or anyone you know is in need of prayer, please let us know and we will be happy to include them within the "in our prayers" list. Please call Ann Horan (914-737-2026) when you know of a member who is ill, in the hospital, or has passed away. We want to be sure to remember them.

We were all saddened to hear of the passing of Hilda Susanna Dengler McGlew who died on September 23rd. Hilda was the mother of Jack McGlew and the sister of Norbert, Ted, Bernie and Larry Dengler. And the aunt of many more Dengler Kolping members. Hilda McGlew's father was Theobald Dengler VIII who was very active in Kolping, probably for his entire life. Also her grandfather, Theobald Dengler VII, was one of the original founders of Kolping NY. Hilda was a long time, active member of the ladies auxiliary. We enjoyed seeing her at all our Kolping events. Hilda's intelligence and wit will be missed by all who knew her.

Our prayers go to Tom Adams and his family on the death of Tom's father Charles. Charles was a veteran of World War II and the Korean War.

Happy Birthday to those born in November:

Daniel Beckett, Marlene Bitterman, Candice Borner, Phyllis Coletti, Deneen Curley, Martin Dengler, Kelly Dengler, Ryan Dengler, Dawn Dowgiallo, James Farley, Mark Franzoso, Brian

Special Milestone Birthdays

A special Birthday Greeting to Wolfgang Hahn who volunteers each month to help in the mailing of this Bulletin. We thank him for all these years of volunteer service and wish him many more birthdays!

If you know someone celebrating a milestone birthday or anniversary, please let us know so we can include it in the Bulletin. Please email either me at editor@kolpingny.org or Ann Horan at annth@optonline.net.

News & Notes

Treu Kolping

A long-standing practice of New York Kolping has been to arrange for a mass to be celebrated in memory of our deceased members on the first Sunday in November. This Kolping event provides an occasion for us to reflect upon the influence on our lives and on our society by members now deceased. As for myself, it is not only on this occasion that I am reminded of various deceased members of Kolping, and on the impression they made upon me, and the benefits that have accrued to me from my acquaintanceship with them in our society.

For the past two years, for example, the mass during the Harvest Festival at Kolping on Hudson has revived in me memories of Mr. Joseph Preisser. Who can forget the Metzelsuppe, a delicious meat broth that Joseph Preisser made especially for the meal of sausages and smoked pork chops served at dinner on that day. Joseph Preisser, who was an assistant to the Praeses, also made sure to lead us in prayer of grace before the meal. I can still hear him intoning the alleluia before the gospel of the mass celebrated at Kolping-on-Hudson on that day.

Most of all I remember, what I should call, Joseph Preisser's steady and measured cheerfulness. He enjoyed the activities of the Kolping Society, and he wanted others to enjoy Kolping, too. To know this, one just had to glance at him as he waved now and then to viewers of the Steuben Day Parade as he marched with the Kolping contingent up Fifth Avenue. His wave was neither exaggerated nor halting—it was firm and friendly—it came from a stout and cheerful heart. So it was, too, at a festive event at Kolping-on-Hudson when I worked with him at a booth at which we raffled off rolls of salami and other types of sausage. Joseph Preisser was deft in his dealings and interactions with the people who were placing their bets at various spots on a long row of numbers. It seemed that if a person placed enough bets, sooner or later he/she was bound to win a roll of first grade salami or sausage. There were smiles aplenty as the winning numbers finally came in. The prizes were soon all gone and all including those who were manning the booth had had a jolly good time.

And then, of course, there was the Kolping Mixed Chorus of which Joseph Preisser was a member. At the annual concert, all who attended, including his family, were guaranteed an entertaining and fun filled evening of traditional and contemporary songs. Some of the audience often showed up mainly to see and to hear relatives perform. It was a wonderful way for families and friends to get together.

For a short time—less than a year—I served on the Board of Directors, and it was there that I learned that in Joseph Preisser, Kolping New York had a prudent and courageous guardian of its interest. I recall his telling me of the struggle and the risk involved in securing for our society the Kolping-on-Concourse residence, an effort in which he had played a significant role.

It was at my first General Meeting of the New York Kolping Society that I met Joseph Preisser. At that event, he told me that Father Kolping's vision for journeymen in nineteenth century Germany was, among other things, a Catholic response to Marxism. Where there otherwise might have been hatred, Father Kolping brought the spirit of love.

It was sad news for me when I learned that Joseph Preisser had died. When I think of him, I am reminded of St. Francis of Assisi's prayer: "Lord, make me an instrument of Your peace..." Thank you, Mr. Preisser, for having given such a good example of a person who strives to fulfill the ideals of the Kolping Society!

Ottmar Mergenthaler (1854-1899)

submitted by Martin A. Kelly

Have you ever imagined what the daily newspaper, in 1870 looked like? It averaged about eight pages with news and an editorial; there were hardly any features, advertisements, letters to the editors, puzzles, want ads, contests, etc. The printing process then depended on hand-setting type which was slow and pain staking and this draw back extended to the printing of books, magazines, journals and other forms of print, as well.

A break through came in the form of the linotype machine invented by German born Ottmar Mergenthaler. Born in Hachtel in 1854, he was trained to be a watch-maker, but migrated to America, in 1872, to become an inventor.

The answer that mankind was awaiting to gear up the printing industry to meet the needs of the modern civilization was the linotype machine. The old press dated back to the days of Guttenberg (1300). Mergenthaler operated from a keyboard, which automatically arranged the characters in a matrix. The assemblage was treated, in an involved process, with hot metal to produce the line of type, whence it's name. Actually, Mergenthaler got the idea from how Christmas cookies, "Springerle" were made at home and applied it to print making.

The linotype expanded the volume of written communication that could be produce and facilitated the transfer of information throughout society.

Mergenthaler grew wealthy and was generous in contributions to charities. Unfortunately, he died at only 44 years from TB.

A LITTLE HUMOR

submitted by Martin A. Kelly

The Knitter

A police officer observed a car weaving from lane to lane on a busy highway. He pursues the errant driver and is horrified to see the driver is an elderly lady knitting as she drives.

"Pull Over" the cop shouts. "I said pull over."

The lady faces him, smiles and says,

"No, actually, it's a scarf"

The Hearing Aid

The old timer met his friend. The friend notes that the old timer is wearing a hearing aid.

The friend inquires, "Do you hear better when you wear that?"

"Yes" replies the oldster.

"How often do you have to replace the batteries asked the friend?"

"I don't put batteries in it" responded the oldster.

"How does that help your hearing?"

"Yes" responded the oldster, "When people see it, out of sympathy they talk louder."

Adolf Hupfel – der Held des Arbeitslosen

submitted by Martin A. Kelly

Well meaning temperance supporters believed that alcoholic beverages were an evil. So in 1918, when Congress wrestled with problems of World War I, they were able to slip through the Volstead Act, which outlawed the manufacture and consumption of whiskey, wine, and beer. It was called prohibition.

One of the many consequences of prohibiting alcoholic beverages was the loss of jobs by those whose livelihood was connected to breweries, bars, and restaurants. Bronx was seriously effected by this law as it was the home of a dozen or so breweries and a large German-American population who traditionally drank beer with their meals.

Brewers with names like Ebling, Eichler, Dolger etc. would go under. One Brewer, Adolf Hupfel, however, rose to the challenge. He converted his brewery into an indoor mushroom farm, which prospered so well that he used the surplus to use in a pasta factory, and also sold his compost to local golf courses for lawn care.

Most importantly, Hupfel's business became a major employer of those thrown out of work by the effects of prohibition. When prohibition was repealed in 1933, he went back to brewing.
