Schlachtfest Mass & Dinner at KOH submitted by Jan Kessler

It has been a few years since we celebrated Schlachfest at KOH and the attendance at full capacity at mass and dinner was certainly an indication of how much everyone missed this celebration. We thank Fr. Breitone who started the day off celebrating mass at Assmuth Hall along with Don Simon who provided the beautiful music. A special thank you to Doris Lechner for a wonderful introduction to our mass celebration. Everyone enjoyed the Men's Choir group Peter Mersits, Frank Kurcz and Joe Szolidatis and thank you to John, Frank and Brian Wiegand, Ted Dengler and Teddy, Jr., Helmi Pinner, Gerda Steinke and all those that helped with the reading and offerings during church services.

Our wonderful 5 star-Five course Schlachfest Dinner was prepared by Chef Steve Brunner who we are all familiar with from many of his specialty dinners that he has cooked over the summer months at Kolping on Hudson. Steve along with our in house chefs Kathy Weinborg, Jennifer Ahrens certainly planned and organized a spectacular dinner that was enjoyed by over 110 members and guests. The dinner all started with great appetizers, and then onto pancake soup, Schweine Haxen and a delicious black forest cake. Thank you for the many hours of hard work and preparation done by our volunteers Tracie Truncellito and Lou Colletti and all the kitchen helpers and servers. Everyone raved about their meals and their dining experience and can only hope that Schlachfest Celebration will be back again next year.

A special thank you to Bob Hemsing for all his efforts in gathering so many wonderful donations for our KOH fundraising raffle and thanks to the many sponsors who donated gift certificates and merchandise. We know that all the winners of these items will treasure the items they won and hope that our members will think of these merchants when needing a purchase as a way of thanking them for their generosity. Special thanks to Ann Hemsing and Muriel Fullam for getting the event so nicely organized and displayed. It was a great success All proceeds from the raffle will benefit Kolping on Hudson and we thank all those that purchased raffle tickets.

Oktoberfest by the Sea submitted by Christine Preisser; Photos by Muriel Fullam

During the week end of Friday Oct. 3 to Sunday Oct.5 the Philadelphia Kolping Family celebrated the traditional German festival of Oktoberfest in a unique location on the New Jersey Shore. Certainly the good fellowship and abundance of food and drink were all there thanks to the hard work of Frank and Diana Staub and the wonderful Philadelphia committee. Fourteen New York Kolping members attended this 5th annual gathering, and I have been assured by Frank, Diana and all of their Kolping family that they hope many more will come and have fun with them on this unique occasion next year.

The Wildwood Montego Bay resort is the destination for all of the Festivities. An entire long balcony facing the ocean is dedicated to food, drink, fellowship and fun. Nearby is the town of Victorian Cape May with its many unique homes Inns and Bed and Breakfasts. Trolleys can take you on a guided tour and you can visit the many shops, restaurants and boutiques. The bird watching and hawk and butterfly migrations that can be seen at the Cape May Light house are worth a visit just for the fabulous varieties of water fowl.

The best reason to come and enjoy a unique Oktoberfest is the true joy of coming to know the fabulous Philadelphia Kolping Family. Our thanks go once again to Frank and Diana Staub, Earl Asimos and Pat Morin, Chuck and Nancy Shustack (beer-cook-all around fixer) Paul and El Leifholtz, Joan Hoy, Chris and Liz Hess, Keith and Denise Hildebrand, Agnes Oberholtzer, Ernie and Marge Gildein and Willie Glazer who won the grand prize and generously donated it back. Willie is also president of The Cannstatters in Philly who host the Kolping events.

We in New York and very blessed by the generous friendship of our Philadelphia Kolping Sisters and Brothers.

FATHER ZEPHYRIN ENGLEHARDT, O.S.F. submitted by Martin A. Kelly

Looking back in history, it's hard to imagine how the "Great South West" of the United States (California, Arizona, and New Mexico) could have been civilized without the help of Catholic missionaries.

Columbus enormous hunch that there was a westward water route to the Orient was a blessing in disguise. It raised the curtain on the "New World" North and South America. Aside from the material wealth, there were millions of non-believers ripe for conversion to Christianity.

Following Jesus' command to teach and convert all nations (Mat. 28, (9-20) priests (padres), mostly Spanish, built settlements which were centers of culture and religion. Stucco wall, orange tile roof edifices marked the landscape, universities were even started.

The efforts of these religious have been immortalized in the names of many of the cities. Start with California. The state capital is Sacramento: then going alphabetically; Santa (saint) Anita, Santa Barbara, Santa Clara, San Diego, San Francisco—Los Angeles, (Our Lady) of the angels.

The religious name of a city, however complimentary, does not do justice to the zeal and toil of these padres in winning souls and acting as the advocate for these converts with regard to the wealthy land owners (Ranchers).

The task of recording and preserving for history the "blood, sweat, and tears" of pioneer padres fell to a German-American Franciscan father named Zephyrin Engelhardt. He was born in Bilshausen, Germany Nov. 15, 1851. When he was only 1 year old, his family immigrated to America and settled in Covington, Kentucky. At 22 years of age, he entered the Franciscan Juniorate where he was ordained. After a stint at missionary work, he devoted his life to research and writing of California's mission history. A monumental "Missions and Missionaries" was published in 4 volumes in 1908. It was followed by 16 volumes on individual missions. A prolific writer he has contributed over 200 articles to professional journals and newspapers. They have remained standard works in the field.

He died April 27, 1934 in Santa Barbara, California.

The State flower of California is the golden poppy.

The priest Junipero Serra (1713 – 1784) laid out the missions near the coast of California, 20 in all, 1 day's travel apart.

To assist the Journeymen, he sowed poppy seeds along the trails so these flowers would serve as travel guides.

FORMER KOLPING HOUSE RESIDENT NOW RUNNING FOR U.S. CONGRESS

submitted by Norbert Dengler

Nick Dilorio whose first home upon moving to New York was the Kolping House (88 St), where he lived for some time before his marriage, is now trying to head for Washington DC, as a U.S. Congressman.

Nick, adopting the slogan "Nick for New York" (which you may have heard) is campaigning in New York's 12th Congressional District which covers the Manhattan east-side (and the Kolping House) as well as portions of western Queens and Brooklyn.

Nicholas Dilorio was born in Rhode Island, studied to be a Catholic Priest for 6 years, (thus his commitment to educational areas, including Charter Schools). He came to realize that having a family and working for the Community was his way to live and serve his fellow man. He came to New York – living in the Kolping House – which he remembers as a happy time and one of his nicest experiences. He learned about the health care industry with the Pfizer Co.

His priorities in Congress include the fight against the corruption and malaise of Washington, the run-away spending; making social programs truly reflect and follow the Judeo-Christian principal of subsidiarity with the focus on benefiting the individual, with actual full time employment. He is deeply Pro-Life, Pro-Family and especially for the working poor who are victimized by some of the governmental bureaucratic policies themselves. For more info see: www.nickfornewyork.com

We wish him Good Luck!
